Alright folks, listen up! Your Waste Maid disposer comes with a warranty that's as solid as the grind in its chamber. We're talking no manufacturing defects for the full warranty period from the day you got your hands on it.

Now, if something goes south, first, check out the Troubleshooting Section in the Owners Guide or hit our website at wastemaid.co.uk for some in-depth checks. If that doesn't cut it, head to the 'Report A Fault Page' on the same site. Don't forget to drop in your Model Number, Serial Number, and Purchase date.

During the warranty run, if your disposer is playing hard to get, we'll supply a new unit. But here's the deal: you foot the bill for installation. Bahn International (wastemaid.co.uk) calls the shots on replacements, and the warranty on the new one matches what's left on the original.

But, and there's always a but, these warranties are only rocking for products in the UK mainland. Sorry, offshore islands – you're not in the club.

Now, pay attention, because this is crucial: these warranties are for regular home use only. If you're running a commercial joint or turning your kitchen into a business hub, we're not your guys.

And of course, the warranty doesn't have your back if your disposer decides to take a break due to jamming, you pull off some acrobatics with it, or you decide to play handyman and mess up the installation. Leaks, blockages, fuses, sink-stoppers, and splash guards? Nope, not covered. Oh, and if your electricity decides to go on vacation, that's not on us either.

Now, here's a sweet deal – lifetime corrosion guarantee. If your Waste Maid disposer taps out because of some corrosion in the grind chamber, we got you covered. No charge for the replacement (sorry, no free labour, though). Just show us you're the original owner with that proof of purchase.

For anything else, hit us up at BAHN INTERNATIONAL LIMITED, 255 ASH ROAD, ALDERSHOT GU12 4DD, or shoot us an email at contactus@wastemaid.co.uk.
